

POPE JOHN XXIII

Past yearbooks have been traditionally) dedicated to those individuals from the school community) who have rightly deserved their tribute for giving wisdom and guidance to Pope John students.

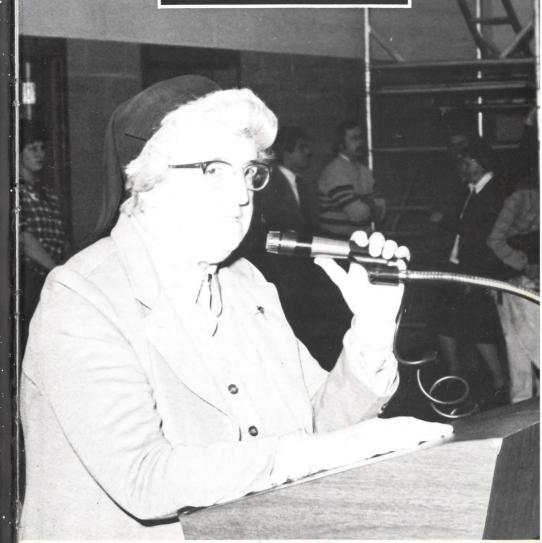

We, the class of 1980, ourselves embarking on a new decade ahead, would like to start this era off by giving credit to another set of "special people" whose time has come for some grateful acknowledgement.

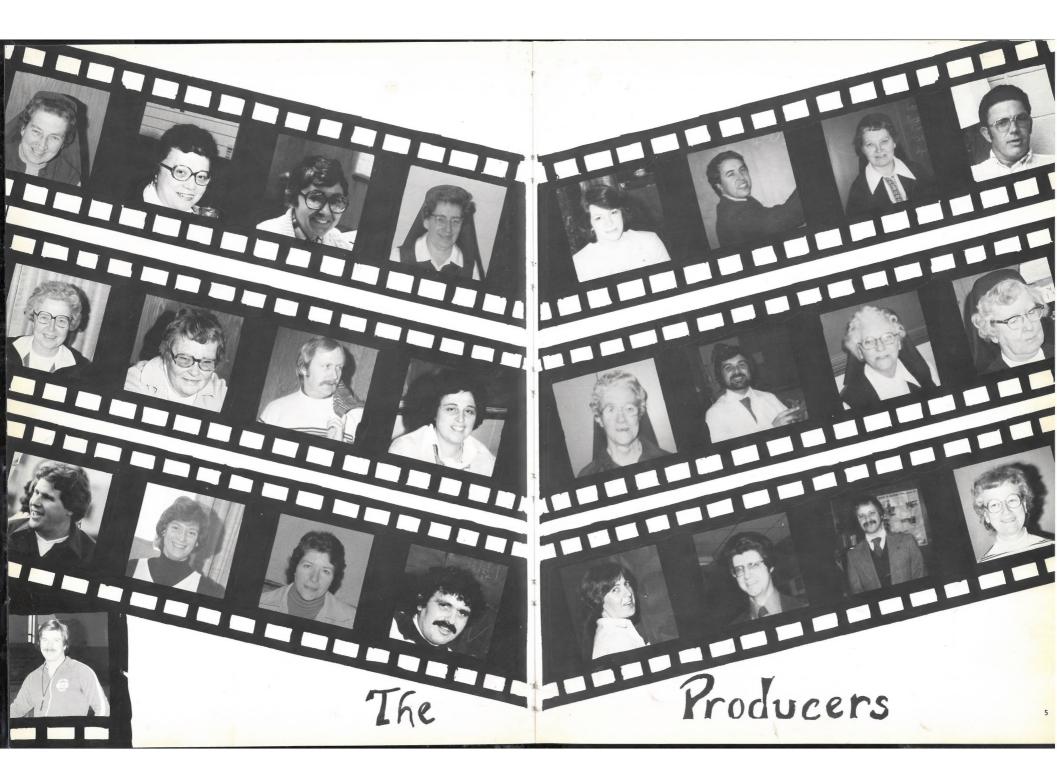

In this light, and with great appreciation and love, we wish to dedicate this yearbook to our parents. They unselfishly give to us both at home and at school... and these few words are meant to somehow express the thanks we feel but don't always say.

Thanks, 'more and Dad... we couldn't have made it without you!

The Director

Pardon the interruption. This is Sister Annata speaking . . . to the class of 1980:
Give of yourself fully day-by-day. Let this be your way of life; then merrily we will meet in heaven.

Special Thanks

The 70's

Ten Years and they stand in memory now like candles guttering in the wind. From "Love Story" to "Kramer vs. Kramer". From Cambodia to Iran, Nixon to Jimmy Carter, it has been a decade that has limped into history.

It began with gas at 30 cents a gallon. It ends with America held hostage by OPEC

Kent State. Agnew. Nixon. Archie Cox. China. Death at the Olympics. The fall of Saigon. Jimmy Hoffa disappearing after lunch. Wilbur Mills disappearing after a few drinks

Sadat. Begin. Three Popes. Three Principals. One Ayatollah

Pudge Fisk and the Midnight Madness of October 1975. Tall Ships and Hot Tubs. Jogging and Tennis. All in the Family and Upstairs Downstairs. Grease and Roots. R2D2 and Jaws.

John Wayne died, and Jimmy Carter was reborn again. Franco was rumored to have passed away, and Louise Brown came out of a test tube in an English Laboratory

Politicians gave speeches. Authors wrote stories. Poets gave us music and song, but the most meaningful line of the decade was uttered, by Alexander Butterfield of the Nixon White House who said "I was hoping you guys wouldn"t ask me that" when asked by the Senate of the existence of any taping devices in th Oval Office.

There were other lines to be remembered

"My God. My God they are killing us," said Ronald Steele, a Freshman at Kent State on an April Afternoon in 1970 "Hurry my children. Hurry. Let's get gone. Lay down your life with dignity." Jim Jones to his followers in Guyana as he urged them to drink their poisoned Kool-aid.

"The Poor are your brothers and sister in Christ. You must never be content to leave them just the crumbs from the feast" Pope John Paul II

It was a decade of cocaine and the Coneheads. Adidas and angel dust. Designer jeans and disco. CB's and Qaaludes. Lee Marvin and joint custody. Down vests and cowboy boots. Backpacking and wood stoves. Affirmative action and discrimination.

Honk if you love Jesus, and May the Force be with you.

Gary Gilmore said "let's do it" Liz Ray said, "I can't type" Jimmy Carter had lust in his heart and Pete Rose had a few million bucks in his pocket. Polyesters walked down the street.

The food critic of the New York Times spent a few thousand dollars eating a single meal at a Paris restaurant. Millions starved to death in Cambodia.

All was the greatest. Secretariat was the fastest. Haywood was the Cheapest. Eddie King was the hungriest. Bella Abzug was the loudest. The people at Three Mile Island the luckiest.

David Berkowitz killed. William Calley served. Martha Mitchell talked Renee Richards changed. The Loud family separated. Masters and Johnsons observed. Tongson Park Bribed. Evil Knievel thrilled. Mason Reese bored. Squeaky Fromme tried.

Patty Hearst was kidnaped. Karen Anne Quinlan was in a coma Attica was in turmoil. Belfast was bathed in blood. Allende was shot dead.

"We do it all for you" McDonalds

"Take it Easy" The Eagles

"Stayin' alive" The BeeGees

"An offer you can't refuse" The Godfather

"I'm not a crook" the President

"I am Woman" Helen Reddy

"Mr. Maynard move your truck" the Office

Now it's all gone filed away under "Me". Ten years of white wine and Perrier, pocket calculators and Japanese imports, CB's and pop rocks, houseplants and frozen yogurt food processers and cassette recorders, digital watches, "The Joy of Sex", roller skates and tee shirts

The Red Sox almost won. Pope John H.S. almost won. Gerry Ford almost won. Joe Timilty almost own. And Anne Irwin almost won.

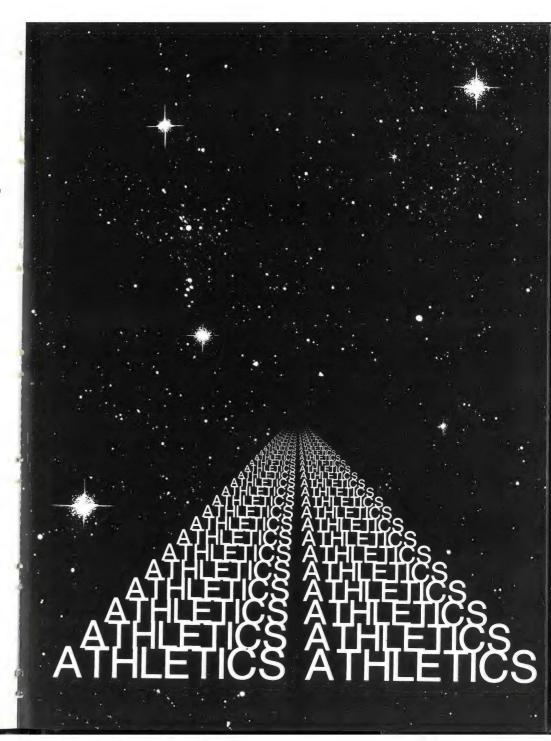

Barbara Streisand sang, so did John Dean. The dow jones average hit 1000. Rod Carew almost hit .400. The Pentagon Papers were published and so was Hustler magazine

Busing came to Boston, followed by headlines and heartache. It snowed and snowed and snowed and snowed some more. (Not that we didn't appreciate the days off from school)

Bobby Orr retired. The Red Sox were sold. The Patriots choked. The Argo Merchat cracked in half. Some people ended the decade having to chose between eating or freezing

For most people time is measured by decades, but for the high school student time is measured by his Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior years. By reaching the end of that calender, we realize that the 1980's will be judged as a result of our future performance. Whether they are a smashing success or a dismal failure, the 80's belong solely to our generation. That fact alone make this decade better than than the last

This year's volleyball team did not have one of it's brighter seasons. However it did come through with a record of 5 - 9. and there were many bright spots during the year. "FOUL" PLAY?!

Despite the team record (5-10), the girls showed much enthusiasm and determination late in the season. The Senior members: Captain Jill Mullins, Sue Falvey and Kara Keller, added greatly to the morale of the team, and they will be missed. The J.V. Team had a tremendous season (11-1) and Coach Brennan will have quite a group for Varsity Coach Isherwood next season.

For the past four years we have had one very special and loyal fan. One who has put forth an unsurpassed amount of time and dedication to our sports program. One who has kept us informed daily of our teams' efforts, and who has never lost interest. This man has seen the thrill of victory and the agony of defeat, but regardless of the outcome, he has stood by us, and encouraged us all the way. This man has truly exemplified Pope John's spirit to the utmost. He is someone whom we all respect.

This man is none other than Mr. Passanisi. Thank you.

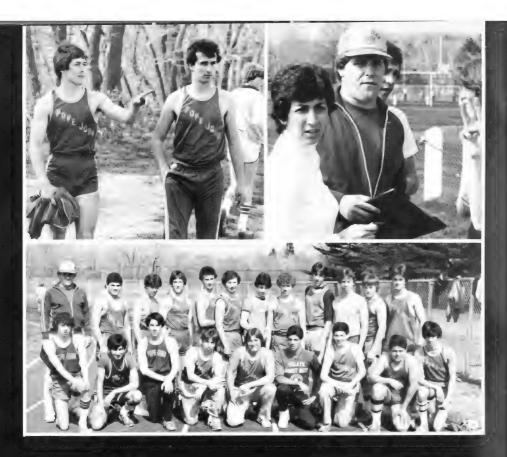

SEE HOW SHE RUNS

Under Ms. Ferris the girl's track team did very well. At the beginning of the season the constant rain and cancellations delayed the seasons opening. A series of tri-meets resolved the problems and the team ended up with a 5-3 record. The departing Seniors: Katie Desmond, Laurie Carrabes, Kathy Harrington, Doreen Moriarty, and co-captains Carol Connolly and Liz Hughes, presence will be missed by the team next year.

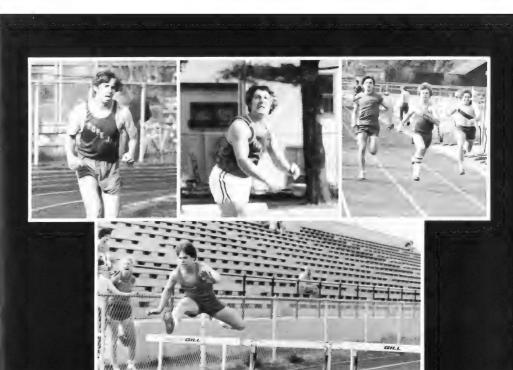

THE ROAD RUNNERS

The track team had a rough year. They were in a league with top competition. A bright spot for them was Kevin Lubinger who was named All-Catholic, and had an excellent season.

MOVIETONE NEWS UPDATE

Our Senior year was a year of contrasts. The class of 1980 began its first semester eagarly awaiting college and burstir.g with hopes for the future and then was forced to graduate nine months later with fears of draft registration and the sounds of not too distant war cries. May 23, 1980, the day of our graduation, was also Day 202 of the Iranian Hostage Crisis. Late in May, the same approximate time, radioactive fluid was still seeping through Three Mile Island, and the "experts" were predicting a severe recession by late Summer.

The Senior Class, of course, didn't spend its whole year at Pope John bemoaning the World situation. We were able to cheer the spectacular U.S. Hockey Team in their amazing victory over the Soviets at the Lake Placid Olympics. We were more than pleased, to say the least, to see local boys Mike Eruzione, Jim Craig, Jack O'Callaghan and Dave Silk have their moment in the national spotlight. More than one Pope John female suffered from weak knees every time Eric Heiden skated across their television screens. The euphoria was quickly climaxed, however, with rumors, later proven true, that the United States would not be sending a team to the Moscow Summer games because of the Afghanistan invasion.

Closer to home, 1980 saw some unexspected graduates as we Seniors completed our final year. Miss Patricia Rosvall left after nine years. Ms. Madeline Webster left after 4 years with us to try her hand at computors. Jim Jagiello left after one year, and Nan Doherty went home to New York to teach in greener pastures. (oh, by the way, Ms. Claudia Hurley didn't have her picture appear in the yearbook, so everbody take a good look at her so you don't forget what she looks like. Sorry Ms. Hurley.)

Pope John High school endured its own personal tragedy late in the mild winter of 1980. The last thing this community expected on the morning of March 18 was to hear of the death of one of our own, Karen MacCuish, a 15 year old Sophomore. After the tears, shock and bewilderment, the student body mustered all its strength with the personal conviction that their conduct would make that difficult time easier for Karen's parents. None present at the resurrection mass a week later will ever forget the bravery exhibited by Mr. and Mrs. MacCuish as they celebrated Karen's life with her friends and classmates.

We sang during our Senior year. One of the more popular tunes during 1980 was "Via Condios" by Slim Whitman, famous singing sensation ("more popular than the Beatles") We also traveled. During the week of April vacation, Seniors were slung all over the globe from Paris to Austria to Florida to Bermuda (pina coladas).

The popular movies of 1980 were the Oscar winner "Kramer vs. Kramer", "The Empire Strikes Back", "The Rose", "Breaking Away" and "Being There". Television saw Edith Bunker leave "All in the Family" and Walter Cronkite annouce his retirment with Dan Rather replacing him.

Every World crisis and fad was, of course, over shadowed by the miraculous addition of vending machines in the lower foyer and the modification of the girl's blouses with more fashionable blouses. All this as a result of the work of the student congress.

The selection of the valedictorian took a strange turn of events this year. Instead of just one speaker, we were blessed with two. Ann Keane and Jean Fasano both had identical "A" averages, and there was no way of singling just one of them. Therefore we were treated to a joint effort by Ann and Jean much to the pleasure of the graduating class.

That is how our year of contrasts ended late in May of 1980. While the rest of the world seemed to be falling apart and at each other's throats, the Pope John class of 1980 was completing a year when reason and lack of conflict prevailed. The way things are going in the adult world our stablizing influence will come none to soon.

Although this book is dedicated to our parents, the mere fact that this book exists is a tribute to another very special person in our lives, Mrs. Nancy Whalen.

Mrs. Whalen's singular gift for compromise was her greatest contribution. She soothed hurt feelings, moderated the "Great Cover Debate" and molded us into one cohesive unit.

We couldn't list the untold instance in which Mrs. W. added her unique creativity and expertise to our efforts. We must simple say "Thank you, Mrs. Whalen, for putting up with us!".

Truly unbiased opinions!!!

Putting together a yearbook is, we imagine, much like having a baby. You work very hard for nine months to produce a beautiful and loved "offspring". The labor pains are surely there, and the same questions are asked: "What will it look like?" and "Will it be the best "baby" we've ever had?". And we know, deep down, that no one can love this "baby" as much as its parents. There's always a special bond between "creator" and "createe".

On the following page are the creators of your yearbook. Please add Maureen Leahy and Tom Gaudet (our special projects man) in your mind's eye. These people are so very important to me. "Thank you" is not enough, nor is "You were so terrific to work with", nor is "God bless you all". So, I'll just say that as you look at these people, know that they were the most loyal bunch of kids in your class.

After an exhaustive survey, we have chosen these UNBIASED opinions to publish!!!
